The Madison Black Chamber of Commerce is pleased to publish the second edition of the Black-owned Business Directory as a service to the community. This is a testament that Black Madison is a part of the commerce and vibrancy of the city of Madison, even though Madison does not have a proverbial Black side of town. We reside and work all over and our businesses are integrated into the fabric of Dane County.

In this Directory, you will find nearly 200 businesses of all kinds, ranging from an export company to landscapers, from home-based to brick and mortar from start-ups to businesses existing for over 30 years.

We have expanded the 2016 Directory to include a list of predominately Black churches and community organizations—one example of how we are invested in the community. We have also included a calendar of annual events. Hopefully these additions make this Directory more valuable.

For newcomers and long time residents alike, the Directory is useful as a starting point of contact. New to this edition is a listing of businesses by category and by owner name. If you need, for example, a barber or beautician, use the owner name list or the category list if you do not know the business name.

This Directory gives you a quick-reference and ready access to Black-owned businesses. It has been projected that Black consumers would spend nearly $15 trillion in 2015. Not even one trillion will be spent in Madison, but this purchasing power shows the power of the Black community’s dollar. When we spend more of those dollars with Black-owned businesses, we strengthen our communities, we provide for more mortgages, we can send more kids to college, we can tithe in greater amounts to charities and churches.

We ask you to think “buy local.” Stretch that to “buy Black.” This directory is a starting point.

We ask you to set a goal of spending let’s say 10% of your income with a Black-owned business or patronizing one Black business each month or buying all your hair and beauty products from businesses in this Directory. Remember that it’s not always convenient to patronize a Black-owned business if it is not located in your immediate neighborhood. But it is so worthwhile.

The Chamber’s motto is Making Smart Black Businesses Smarter. Our business is to promote, advocate, lead and build connections for the businesses we have existing today. We can grow. We can build community. We can excel. We are depending on you.

Pictured from left: Eps, estissent no. Peribusquon tifecta, si pro aperit. Ecre a ac vissupp licaet, vis conlos, cur. At ium te macio nondam pra ocae mo eremeremne consus
1. I will live within my means.
2. I will maximize my income potential through education and training.
3. I will effectively manage my budget, credit, debt and tax obligations.
4. I will save at least 10% of my income.
5. I will use home ownership as a foundation for building wealth.
6. I will devise an investment plan for my retirement needs and children’s education.
7. I will ensure that my entire family adheres to sensible money management principles.
8. I will support the creation and growth of minority-owned businesses.
9. I will guarantee my wealth is passed on to future generations through proper insurance and estate planning.
10. I will strengthen my community through philanthropy.

Suggestions:
- Copy and post at work and at home on the refrigerator
- Send to another family member
- Distribute at family gatherings or family reunion
- Have a conversation with your family; try to get a buy-in to all or some of the ten principles
- Do a six month check-in to note your progress
- Distribute at church; give to each member and post on bulletin board
- Distribute at civic club, sorority, fraternity, masonic meetingss and at regional or national conferences
- Publish in neighborhood newsletters
- Copy and send to six other people (like a chain letter)
5 WAYS TO SUPPORT BLACK-OWNED BUSINESSES

1. Locate local businesses such as those listed in this Directory.
   One of the most convenient ways to support black-owned businesses is by finding the ones in your area. It’s simple to do and can make shopping at these businesses easier. Try sites like Black-owned Biz and Support Black-owned to find spots near you.

2. Download these apps.
   Apps like Black Owned Businesses and Around the Way (both free on Google Play and the App Store) are some mobile options. Both locate nearby businesses. The former has a push notification when new locations pop up in your area.

3. Shop online.
   From hair products to jewelry to art, online shopping can be your best bet when it comes to supporting the business of your choice. The blog AfroBella compiled a huge list of online vendors, from popular solo sellers to Etsy stores.

4. Spread the word on social media.
   Once you find businesses you like, make sure other people know about them. Everyone loves having a secret, favorite local spot, but that doesn’t bring those businesses any revenue. Twitter, Facebook and Tumblr are all great starting places to spread the word about local business you love.

5. Host events at Black-owned businesses.
   Have a birthday, meeting or special event coming up? Keep a local Black business in mind. Not only does this spread awareness, it brings new customers through the door. There are also ways to incorporate small businesses if you’re hosting an event elsewhere. Catering and party planning, for instance, are great ways to bring Black-owned businesses into any event you throw.

B lack-owned businesses need your support. It has been reported that by 2015, Black buying power in the U.S. could reach $1.1 trillion. But that money doesn’t always go back to the Black community. If that’s one of your priorities, patronizing back to Black-owned businesses is a great way support Black entrepreneurs.

However, unless you live in Columbus, Montgomery or Atlanta, Georgia (the top three cities for Black-owned businesses), it requires a little more effort to find and support these Black businesses. From shopping online to trying out different apps, here are five ways you can support Black-owned businesses. Make the extra effort.

10 ways to grow smarter

1. Buy from a Black establishment
2. Read a book by a Black author or buy a Black art print
3. Take your child to a Black-owned business
4. Teach your children about Black inventors
5. Make a conscious effort to spend at least 10% of your dollars with a business that will help your community
6. Tithe to a Black college, charity or church
7. Subscribe to a Black owned newspaper or magazine
8. Coach/talk business strategy with another Black business
9. Teach your children about Black entrepreneurs
10. Don’t be so quick to find fault; if you have an issue, talk constructively with the owner with the intent to help them

The African American Council of Churches of Greater Madison (AACC) is comprised of approximately 20 predominantly African American Churches. Congregations range in size from about 20 members to several hundred. Members of the AACC comprise a broad range of the Black population of Dane County. Therefore, it is in a unique position to disseminate pertinent information throughout the Black community quickly and effectively.

The AACC is a respected group of African American leaders that are at the forefront of the issues that affect its constituency. Bishop Harold Rayford, President, African American Council of Churches.
